

Renew Riots On Kojé Isle

Kill Three In Affray At Yongchon

Kojé Island, Korea, Friday, May 30.—(AP)—Five prisoners were killed and 17 were injured in new outbreaks Thursday and today in the stormy Kojé island allied stockade and in a Korean mainland compound at Yongchon.

Two North Korean prisoners of war were killed and two others were wounded today when a work party attacked two American and two South Korean guards.

Another prisoner was killed and a second wounded at Kojé in the accidental discharge of a guard's machinegun.

The Eighth Army said the affray at Yongchon, 60 miles north of the South Korean provisional capital of Pusan, broke out between interned civilians moved there recently from Kojé Island.

The riot was the second in 24 hours involving prisoners of war and interned civilians.

Three civilians were killed and 13 were injured Thursday in a prison compound at Yongchon, Tokyo headquarters announced.

The Kojé riot started today when a work detail charged its guards.

Two American and two South Korean guards were involved in the Kojé flareup.

No further details were available immediately.

To Investigate Incidents

The U. S. Eighth Army was investigating both incidents.

About 100 Allied troops wielding bayonets and throwing tear gas yesterday raided an unruly compound of Kojé containing 3,350 prisoners, destroyed their headquarters and seized Red flags and knives. No blood was spilled, the army said.

It was the first big show of force inside any of the 17 compounds since disorders flared early in May on this South Korean island where 80,000 prisoners of war are held.

The trouble began when guards spotted Red prisoners trying to chop a hole through an inner barbed wire fence that bars the way to an area leading to the outer gate.

Col. Henry Taylor, Magnolia, Ark., ordered the Reds to repair the hole. When they refused, he summoned 60 battle-season troops from Company E of the 38th Infantry regiment.

The infantrymen, wearing gas masks and with bayonets fixed to their rifles, then moved in with tear gas, driving the Red prisoners from the fence. Behind this flying wedge, more than 50 British soldiers from the King's Shropshire Light Infantry moved in and began tearing down their command post and a nearby dispensary.

Reds Jeer

The 2,700 Red officers and 650 enlisted men of the compound stood back, chanted slogans, jeered and sang. One prisoner mounted a rostrum and declared the incident was "a rehearsal for World War III."

The first British wrecking crew was relieved by 65 more British troops who had been taking riot-control training. These troops completed the demolition job. They brought out knives, Red flags, medical supplies, blankets and pictures, most of which had been hidden under the floors of the two shacks.

The British also found maps of Kojé Island and "other intelligence material," Taylor said.

Taylor said authorities had been wanting to get rid of the buildings for a long time because they kept guards from seeing what was going on in Compound 66.

"So long as we were in there we decided to wreck them," he added.

The Reds had two flags flying within minutes after the U. S. and British troops quit the compound. They plastered the compound with signs damning the operation, but they were quiet.

Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, the camp commander who is bringing firm rule to the island, watched the whole operation. He ignored written demands by Red leaders that he confer with them.

Congress Approves Funds For State Civil Defense

Chicago, May 29.—(AP)—The Illinois Office of Civil Defense said today that up to the present congress has approved federal matching funds totaling $347,026 for civil defense programs in the state.

Federal approval of an additional $531,434 in matching funds is expected soon, the defense office said.

Under the federal matching fund plan, communities and counties participating in the civil defense program receive from the federal government an amount equal to that raised locally.

Stevenson Lines Up New Aims

Springfield, Ill., May 29.—(AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, often mentioned as a Democratic presidential possibility, tonight spelled out his goals for a second term as governor of Illinois.

He called for a bigger state police force, unified control of state supported higher education, creation of a new school building authority, and new tools for gambling law enforcement.

He pledged to push the state's big road building program, seek a fair employment practices law and work for constitutional changes to modernize state tax laws, legislative districts, and the judiciary.

The governor outlined the objectives in a speech prepared for a dinner meeting of the Springfield Manufacturers' and Employers' association.

Although shorter, his address resembled an Illinois chief executive's traditional message opening a regular session of the legislature. It was as comprehensive in scope.

Stevenson said in the term now drawing to a close, his administration's broadest objective was "raising the moral tone of public service in the state government."

"I think we have made notable progress toward this intangible but all important goal," he declared. "I hope we can push forward toward higher levels of integrity and performance."

He said that "people have a right to expect that their officials will be honest. They also have a right to know their aims."

The governor made no reference to speculation that he might abandon his gubernatorial campaign if he is offered the presidential nomination by the Democratic national convention in July.

Fire On Motorists On US Highway 66, Wound One

Joliet, Ill., May 29.—(AP)—Two motorists were fired on in separate shootings today on U.S. Highway 66 north of Joliet. One of the motorists was wounded.

State Police set up roadblocks along the much-traveled highway in an effort to trap the mystery gunmen.

State Police said Dan Schorner, of Aurora, was fired on from an oncoming auto some three miles south of Plainfield, in Will county.

Schorner told police he dropped out of sight when he saw the other driver level a gun at him out of a side window. Schorner was not hit.

A bullet shattered a side window of Schorner's auto.

Police said Schorner related that the gunman was driving a blue late model Chevrolet or Hudson "at a terrific speed." The shooting occurred about 3:30 p.m.

A similar story was told police earlier today by William Eirthis, 45, of Plainfield, who was wounded in the hand while driving north on U.S. 66 some 18 miles north of Joliet.

State Police said Eirthis related that the shots were fired by four men riding in a blue 1950 Ford. The incident occurred about 6 a.m.

State Police at Joliet and Pontiac set up roadblocks on 66 in an effort to snare the gunmen.

Veep Enters Race, Six Demos Seek Nomination

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley, veteran of 39 years in congress and renowned stump speaker, today became the sixth avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He issued a brief statement that he would accept the nomination if tendered.

The 74-year-old Kentuckian thus said what he had been on the verge of saying ever since President Truman took himself out of the running March 29.

Barkley's entry scrambled the race for the top prize in his party into a bigger omelet than ever. He also made it difficult for the president to pick a pre-convention favorite if he desires to do so. Including Barkley several close friends of Truman are now avowed or strongly potential candidates.

On the Republican scorecard, Sen. Robert A. Taft moved a bit further ahead of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower when Alabama Republicans completed their 14-vote delegation with nine for Taft, four for Ike and one uncommitted.

Counting Alabama, the AP tally sheet now reads: Taft 411, Eisenhower 386. GOP nomination requires 604.

Charge Red Riots Veil Revolution

Paris, May 29.—(AP)—French Communist boss Jacques Duclos and two henchmen were charged today with plotting against France's internal security by inciting hate-Ridgway riots as a front for Red revolution. Communist-led unions threatened strikes by millions of workers in protest.

Duclos' ringleader companions in the Paris Red rioting of Wednesday were identified today as Alfred Wigheshoff and Georges Goossens.

They were arrested with Duclos beside Duclos' car at a riot scene Wednesday night but were not immediately named as plotters. The charges against the three are identical: plotting against the internal security of the republic.

Goossens told police the pistol and a club found in Duclos' car belonged to him (Goossens) and that he was carrying them because a recent attempt was made to assassinate Duclos.

Pigeons found in the car, Goossens said, were given to the Red boss by an admirer.

The government crackdown on Communists brought uproars from the Red following.

The Communist-led General Confederation of Labor (CGT) immediately countered with an order to its three million members to stage general strikes and demonstrations against Duclos' arrest. The big union called for an all-out fight for "peace, bread and liberty."

French authorities, clamping down heavily on the Reds, seized many of today's editions of Communist newspapers throughout the country.

Among these were the main party organ L'Humanite, which carried a front-page message by Duclos proclaiming the solidarity of the French Reds with Soviet East Germany in its campaign against newly signed western alliances with West Germany.

The fighting started over Communist attempts to demonstrate against Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who becomes supreme commander of Allied Powers in Europe Friday. Authorities said the demonstration against Ridgway was a false front for a revolutionary plot.

Ridgway replaces Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who is returning to the United States Sunday as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

In the absence in Moscow of Maurice Thorez, Duclos, 56, leads the second biggest Communist party this side of the iron curtain. Italy's is the biggest. He heads the powerful Red bloc in the French National Assembly. Normally he could escape arrest through his parliamentary immunity.

But authorities said such immunity does not hold when a deputy is caught with arms during an attempt against state security. If convicted, the chubby, bespectacled former pastry cook could be sentenced to exile—possibly on some bleak island prison.

Tokyo Prepares To Quell Red Demonstrations

Tokyo, Friday, May 30.—(AP)—Some 2,500 metropolitan police with wooden shields and a unit of American military guards with fixed bayonets were mobilized for an expected outbreak of Communist demonstrations today.

National police were alerted for outbreaks in other parts of Japan. Police said the Reds planned a show of strength in observance of "Martyrs Day," anniversary of Communist demonstrations in the Far East.

Although all outdoor meetings were banned, the Communist party called for nine rallies.

Tokyo waited in the rain with May Day riots still fresh in mind. One demonstrator was killed and 1,200 injured in Communist anti-American riots just 30 days ago.

At mid-morning the capital was quiet but tense.

Authorities said the Communists scheduled demonstrations for 3:30 p.m. (2:30 a.m. Friday, CST) to take advantage of the evening rush hour in line with Red strategy to "take the fight to the masses."

Winter Returns As Cold Air Blankets Nation

By the Associated Press

Cold Canadian air covered some two-thirds of the nation Thursday, but warmer temperatures were in prospect for most areas on Memorial Day.

The cool air stretched from the Rocky mountain region eastward to the Appalachians. Freezing temperatures were reported as far south as northern Iowa early Thursday. Frost was widespread over the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa.

Rain fell in a narrow band from Mississippi northeastward through parts of Tennessee and Kentucky and into south central New York.

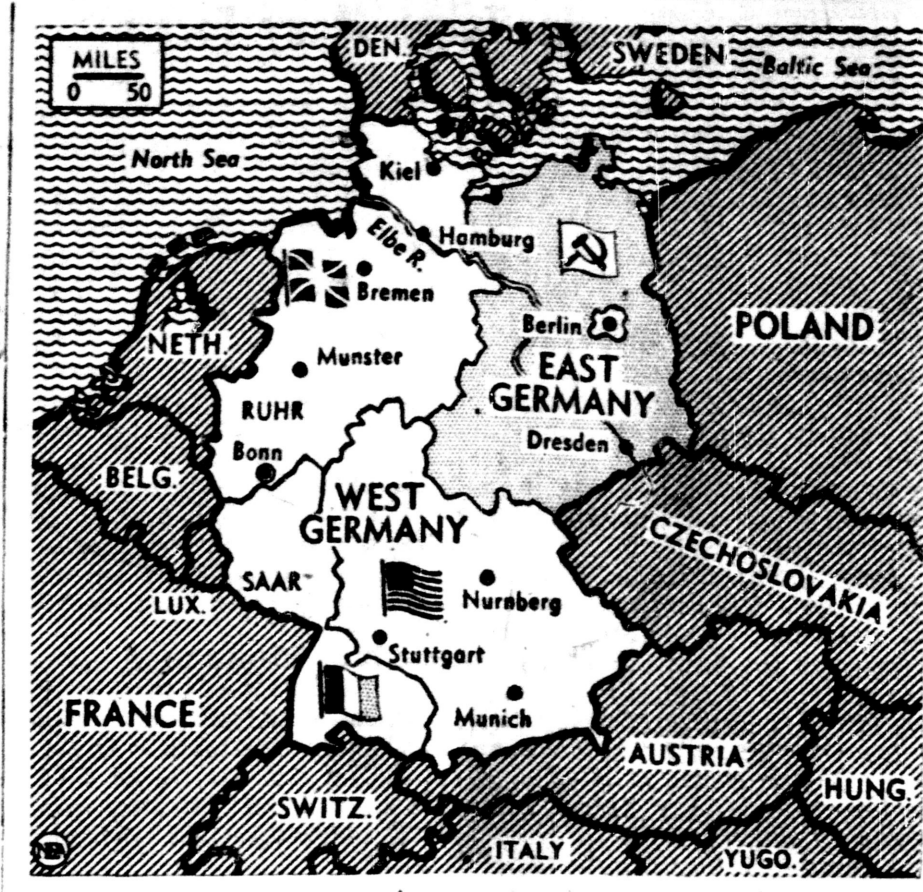

New England reported some rain, a few showers or thunderstorms fell in the eastern Gulf states, the northern Rockies, and from South Dakota along the Missouri river to Omaha, Neb.

The finishing touches were to be completed at 7:30 p.m. (EST). This is the signal for Reclamation Commissioner Michael Straus to start the symbolic flow of the first irrigation water from the Columbia river.

The seven-room house, which contractors said would normally take more than two months to build, was 70 per cent completed by noon as carpenters banged away at the roof and got out of the way of the painters.

Western Germany, under occupation since the end of World War II, regains most of her autonomy under a "peace contract" aligning her with the West in a united front against Russian aggression. The Federal Republic was born in 1949 with its capital at Bonn. Under terms of the contract the Republic is pledged to rearm and raise 12 divisions totaling 300,000 men to serve in the new western European army. The German Federated Republic will exchange ambassadors with other nations. The occupation has ended, but it doesn't mean that Allied troops will leave. The Big Three can intervene to quell an external attack or any internal civil disturbance; troops will remain there as long as the international situation makes it necessary; they will retain the right to negotiate with Russia over German unification and Berlin. Meanwhile, across the Elbe river, Soviet troops and Communist officials control the eastern portion of Germany. Many new problems are expected to develop concerning Germany and her allies. But the "peace contract" did show the first concrete results of a spirit of unity against a common enemy. They are the first steps in a plan which ultimately could lead to the first United States of Europe in history.

Solons Vote To Continue OPS Controls

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—The Senate refused today by a vote of 52 to 18 to let all wage and price controls die at the end of next month, and then headed into heated debate on the form which an extension should take.

A final vote is not expected until some time next week on a bill to extend authority for controls from June 30 until next March 1.

President Truman took a hand in the controversy, speaking out in a letter to Vice President Barkley against a proposal to revamp the make-up of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB), making it an all-public body, and to strip it of authority to recommend settlements of labor disputes.

If congress approves that plan, Truman said, it will in effect be encouraging strikes and lockouts.

The board has been the center of controversy ever since its disputed recommendations for settling the steel dispute. They were favored by the six public and six labor members over the objections of the six industry members.

Truman defended this three-part makeup, and said that if congress decides that the board shall be made up of all public members, "it will in effect be declaring its lack of confidence in the integrity and public-spiritedness of both labor and management."

Late in the day, before adjourning until Monday, the Senate entered into an agreement to limit debate which Democratic leader McFarland of Arizona said should produce a final decision on Wednesday. Sen. Robertson (D-Va.), urging some such agreement, complained he had never seen so much absenteeism on the floor. Without some limit on debate, he said, "we'll be here until the snow flies."

FLAG DAY JUNE 14

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—President Truman today asked the nation to observe June 14 as the 175th anniversary of the adoption of the American flag by the Continental Congress.

Moses Lake, Wash., May 29.—(AP)—Dozens of farmers, carpenters, electricians and plumbers chipped in today to create a $75,000 farm in 17 hours for a dramatic start of the million-acre Columbia basin irrigation project.

More than 100 workers started under floodlights a minute after midnight. They were so far ahead of schedule at noon that the planters were asked to slow down to give the hundreds of spectators a longer show.

The finishing touches were to be completed at 7:30 p.m. (EST). This is the signal for Reclamation Commissioner Michael Straus to start the symbolic flow of the first irrigation water from the Columbia river.

HST To Fight For Full Foreign Aid Bill

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—President Truman made it plain today he'll fight to the end for the full $59,900,000 defense-and-foreign-aid budget which congress seems determined to whittle by billions.

Truman also disclosed, at a news conference full of no-comments, that he'll see Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the White House immediately after the general's return from Europe Sunday.

And he confirmed reports that he's backing Missouri Attorney General J. E. "Buck" Taylor for the Democratic senatorial nomination from Missouri in preference to W. Stuart Symington, who held several top government posts under Truman.

Taylor has the support of the Kansas City Pendegast organization which helped Truman himself to national office.

He said he hopes congress will approve the full program. And he added that he expects to say a great deal on his whistle-stop campaign tour for the Democratic ticket later this year about those who want to cut the programs.

Truman told newsmen he'll receive Eisenhower in his study—that is, in the presidential living quarters, rather than the executive offices, when the general leaves the airport Sunday to pay a courtesy call on the chief executive and make his report.

FIND TIRED LITTLE BOY

Carbon Cliff, Ill., May 29.—(AP)—For two hours last night nearly every one in this Rock Island county village of 674 persons hunted for Teddy Downing, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Downing.

Teddy, reported missing by his parents around 9 o'clock, was the object of a search by the police and fire departments, businessmen, clubs and private citizens.

Then, somebody returned to the Downing home for another look. Teddy was found asleep under the dining-room table. He commented: "I'm tired," and returned to sleep.

New Life For Veteran On 'Farm In A Day'

Moses Lake, Wash., May 29.—(AP)—Dozens of farmers, carpenters, electricians and plumbers chipped in today to create a $75,000 farm in 17 hours for a dramatic start of the million-acre Columbia basin irrigation project.

Reds Of E. Germany Clash With W. Berlin

Ask 3 Billion For A-Bomb Program

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—President Truman asked congress today to vote more than three and a third billion dollars to beef up the nation's atomic weapons program. He said the money would provide for a "major further expansion" over a five-year period.

"The national security and the security of the free world," Truman said in letters to congressional leaders, "demand that we maintain and increase our leadership in this field. 'Not to do so invites disaster.'"

The president gave no details of the projected $3,341,000,000 expansion, saying only that it would "provide greater capacity for the production of fissionable materials and for the fabrication of such materials into atomic weapons."

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) declined to elaborate except to say that the program embraces one Ohio river valley plant which it has announced is under consideration.

Presumably, however, any such major expansion would speed up additions to the U. S. stockpile of conventional A-bombs and would also permit greater speed in the development of production of such weapons as atomic artillery, nuclear-powered submarines and aircraft, and the fearsome hydrogen bomb.

Truman gave an indication of the importance which he attaches to the effort by the AEC and the Navy to hurry to completion the world's first atomic-powered submarine, which officials hope will be a working reality within two years or less.

A short time after he submitted the new money request to congress, the White House announced that the chief executive will speak at keel laying ceremonies for the historic new craft at New London, Conn., on June 14.

When Truman submitted his big annual budget to congress in January, he announced that sometime later he would ask congress for supplemental funds for atomic energy.

The request was formally made today in a letter the president sent to House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

The money would go to the AEC and to the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), big electric power producer in the area where some of the big new atomic projects are being built.

He said he hopes congress will approve the full program. And he added that he expects to say a great deal on his whistle-stop campaign tour for the Democratic ticket later this year about those who want to cut the programs.

Truman told newsmen he'll receive Eisenhower in his study—that is, in the presidential living quarters, rather than the executive offices, when the general leaves the airport Sunday to pay a courtesy call on the chief executive and make his report.

Chambers Testifies Reds Work Within Government

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—Two former Communists, Whittaker Chambers and Elizabeth Bentley, testified today that they think Red agents still are at work within the government, trying to steal vital secrets.

They told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee they are unable to name names or the departments in which they may be working.

But Chambers said it would be childish to assume there are none. And Miss Bentley, who says she worked with two spy rings here during World War II, said she has been told two groups still are operating busily within the government.

Although she could not identify any members of these groups she said she had been told about, Miss Bentley said it is obvious the Communists have no interest in lowly clerks or typists who can't get into secret files.

Chambers and Miss Bentley were part of an unusual panel discussion group that included Adm. R. H. Hillebrand, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency; Herbert Phillips, a former FBI undercover agent who joined the Communists; and Hede Massing, another former Communist.

Chambers and Miss Bentley agreed it would be difficult to ferret out any Communist now on the federal payroll.

Naval Maneuvers Cause Rumors Of Submarine Trouble

Norfolk, Va., May 29.—(AP)—A Coast Guard spokesman said "a highly classified exercise" being conducted off the North Carolina coast was responsible for reports that planes were searching the Atlantic today for a submarine believed in trouble.

The spokesman said no further information could be released on the secret maneuvers.

Coast Guard planes were reported today to be searching the Atlantic off North Carolina for a submarine believed in trouble. It was not clear whether the submarine was a United States vessel or foreign.

Officers at the Coast Guard station here declined to comment on the search.

FLY RED FLAG GET REAL REACTION

Chicago, May 29.—(AP)—A municipal court judge today ordered psychiatric examinations for three youths who told authorities they flew the Red flag of Russia from an apartment building "to see what the reaction would be."

The "reaction" was an aroused south side neighborhood. Angry neighbors gathered beneath the seven-foot banner and shouted protests until police arrested the trio. The incident occurred May 18.

The youths, Lowell S. Schurman, 19, Richard Kerwin, 18, both of Chicago, and Robert Kaplan, 19, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., today told Judge Joseph Drucker they flew the flag from Kaplan's apartment window as an experiment and underestimated the public reaction.

All three denied they are Communists and said they are loyal to the United States. Kerwin testified he made the flag from materials he purchased from a mail order house.

Judge Drucker dismissed charges of illegally displaying a foreign flag against the three and set June 11 for a hearing of charges of disorderly conduct against the youths.

Kaplan and Schurman are students at the University of Chicago. Kerwin is a former student at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Truman Vetoes Bill Giving Tide-Lands Title To States

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—President Truman today vetoed legislation to give the states title to oil-rich lands beyond their coasts.

The president, in a message to the Senate, said the bill would turn over to certain states as a free gift "very valuable lands and mineral resources of the United States as a whole—that is, of all the people of the country."

The House is expected to override the veto, but a close contest is forecast in the Senate.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), predicting that the Senate would uphold the veto, said last night he would hold off seeking a vote on it until June 5.

Backers of state ownership contend the bill merely recognizes what is right and is needed to clear up Supreme Court decision saying the federal government has "paramount power and dominion" over the lands.

California, Texas and Louisiana are primarily concerned. Some experts have estimated the oil off their shores may be worth anywhere from 22 to 29 billion dollars.

Senate Committee Calls Tanker Deals Illegal Practices

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—A Senate subcommittee reported today that Newbold Morris, ousted government cleanup chief, earned approximately $30,000 in surplus ship deals which led to "questionable and in some instances illegal practices."

The report is the result of a sensational inquiry made by the investigations subcommittee into the purchase of surplus oil tankers from the old U. S. Maritime Commission by Joseph E. Casey and a group of prominent public figures.

It demanded that the government seize eight tankers sold to Casey and his associates, and 38 vessels sold to others under similar circumstances.

It also suggested that the internal revenue bureau act to collect millions of dollars in taxes allegedly avoided in the deals. In the case of the Casey group, the subcommittee stated, the recovery might be between $850,000 and $1,400,000.

There is evidence that the Maritime Commission operated with confusion and mismanagement, the committee said, creating the impression that "the back door" approach was the best approach to the commission. It demanded that the justice department look into this.

In a complicated series of deals, the China International Foundation, a charitable organization headed by Morris, obtained control of six tankers. It was testified during the inquiry that two of them ferried oil to Red China until just before the Korean war.

MEMORIAL DAY

Another Memorial Day finds the United States still at war. Along the slopes of military cemeteries march lengthening rows of white crosses. Thousands of homes across the United States have been darkened by death and many more are oppressed by anxiety and fear.

It is a far-off thing, this war in Korea, a war that some do not even call a war. But its dead are as irrevocably dead and its wounded suffer as grievously as those who were struck down in the more spectacular carnage of Gettysburg, the Argonne, the Bulge or Guadalcanal.

In terms of individual destiny, there is no "little" war, however circumscribed may be its geography. In every war the participant risks his all. All war is dreadful—to those who fight in it, to those who wait and pray for its end, and to those who ponder its aftermath.

But Memorial Day is not by tradition an occasion for solemn generalizations about war or why men go to war. It is concerned mostly with the essential and tragic fact that in every war many men must die prematurely.

Memorial Day is an occasion for expressing love and gratitude to those who have died. It is an occasion for repeating to the nation's grieving mothers and families bereft the noble invocation of Abraham Lincoln, who prayed (in his letter to Mrs. Bixby) that

"Our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom."

QUEEN OF ATLANTIC?

July 3 is the date set for the new superliner United States to begin regular service between New York and Le Havre and Southampton. Both the Maritime Administration and the United States Lines, which will operate the 990-foot vessel capable of carrying 2,000 passengers, hope and believe she will prove the fastest big vessel afloat.

The public, too, would rejoice to see the speed supremacy of the Atlantic restored to this country for the first time in more than 50 years.

The Cunard liner Queen Mary established the transatlantic record 14 years ago by crossing from Ambrose Light to Bishop's Rock in three days, 20 hours, 42 minutes. Rumor is that her newer and larger sister ship, the Queen Elizabeth, is faster, but her maximum speed, perhaps for military reasons, has not been revealed.

Both vessels are somewhat longer and of greater tonnage than the United States. The Queen Mary on her record run averaged 31.69 knots per hour.

It will be made known if the trial runs of the United States indicate that she can maintain a sustained speed that surpasses that established by the Queen Mary, but just what that speed is will not be disclosed. In the event of war the United States, quickly transformed into a transport, could accommodate an entire Army division and its equipment. Knowledge of its speed could be of too great value to an enemy.

More important, however, than the mere question of speed is the enterprise that produced this great luxury merchant vessel at a time when so much thought and money are being devoted to defense. This liner was built with the prime purpose of bringing the peoples on both sides of the ocean closer together with a maximum of comfort.

PATTERN FOR RAIN

Man can bring rainfall at his own will and pleasure; it is contended by a group of scientists who are conducting a series of experiments which will continue through the summer.

Dr. Irving Langmuir, Nobel prize-winning scientist, speaking for the group, says a pattern has been created which will bring rain at regular intervals throughout the nation by seeding clouds with silver iodide.

Results of the experiments are revealed in a copyrighted story in the Tucson, Ariz., Daily Citizen. No hocus pocus is involved.

Clouds seeded in New Mexico, Dr. Langmuir explains, brought rains in eastern states the next day with regularity. Seeding dates were changed from time to time to prove that the resulting precipitation would not have happened otherwise. Time elapsed between seeding and precipitation was the period necessary for the seeded area to move across the country, it is contended.

If Dr. Langmuir's plan, which is being developed in behalf of the military, is proved to be generally effective, man's trouble with drought will be ended. If Illinois corn needs rain in July or August, it will simply be a matter of calling up the right state and ordering a few pounds of silver iodide to be sprinkled in the clouds, with Illinois to be billed for the modest expense involved.

Hollywood—(NEA)—Exclusively Yours: Hollywood's mistaken if it thinks "Lime-light" due on the screens soon, will be Charley Chaplin's last movie. The grapevine has been twisting with the report that Chaplin is ready to mothball his make-up box for good after selling his studio and his old films to TV.

"That's ridiculous," he told me. "Nothing is my last. I just don't think that way. I'll be making movies when I'm in a wheel chair."

But he is admitting that the Chaplin library of 15 movies will be available for TV "when the price is right."

Chaplin's opinion of TV comedians? "Sorry, I haven't seen any. In fact, I've looked at TV only once."

Half a dozen Chaplin shorts, filmed prior to 1918, are often playing on the video circuit. Charley admits, to his embarrassment, "They were made," he grinned, "in the days when all you needed for a movie was a camera, a brick and a policeman."

Hollywood can start yelping again. Mrs. James Mason's sound-off about movietown social cliques will be repeated in an article she's writing for a national magazine. Her original zippy quota started a near riot.

★ DR. JORDAN SAYS ★

Allergy—Caused by Foreign Protein—Takes Many Forms

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service
Miss L. L. R. writes: "I am told I have allergy. What is this? How is a person affected? What is the cause of it, and what can I do for it? What should I eat, and what should I not eat?"

It is a larger order to try to answer these questions and the writer does not say definitely that she is allergic to foods, nor whether her symptoms consist of hives (urticaria), or some other form of allergy. All that I can do, therefore is to discuss briefly food allergy in general.

Allergy is an increased sensitivity to some foreign protein and this protein can be contained in foods inhaled in the form of pollen from the air, obtained from such things as weeds or lacquer, or may take many other forms. Foods, therefore, are only one source of allergic reaction, and they can produce many kinds of difficulty.

When the food causing the trouble is known and there is only one kind of food and that rarely used, the difficulty can be controlled by avoiding it. In some cases, however, a person may be sensitive to wheat or milk, both of which are used in the cooking and preparation of so many foods that a real problem exists.

The management of food allergy is almost always difficult. The first problem is to find out what food, or foods, are at fault. Sometimes simple dislike may give a clue. The patient himself may be able to tell from sad experience what foods (like shrimp or strawberries) always give trouble.

The history of reactions is important. In other words, a person ought to know pretty well what he or she has eaten at a meal which was followed by hives or other signs of food allergy.

Skin tests of various foods are commonly used, but are not always completely reliable and it requires an expert to interpret them. Trial diets which include or exclude suspected foods are often helpful in finding the foods responsible. A food diary by which a record is kept of the foods eaten each meal may be of help.

BUILD UP RIGHT DIET

Sometimes a diet can be outlined which at least temporarily eliminates some of the foods to which the patient is sensitive. Little by little one or more of the foods can be added and eventually a tolerable diet built up.

Attempts have been made to desensitize—that is to overcome the allergy gradually—by injection or by other means. This consists in giving extremely small quantities of extract of the offending substance in the same way that pollen extracts are given for hay fever. This is a long and not always successful method.

Those who are afflicted with sensitivity to a great many foods are truly unlucky and face a long, difficult time.

THE FIRST OF MODERN WARS

BY HAL BOYLE

New York.—(P)—The long march of the blue and the gray is about over.

This Memorial Day fewer than a baker's dozen survive of the massed millions who fought in the American war of brother-against-brother that ended 87 years ago.

The earth is a tomb of many vanished armies, but few live longer in memory than those that contended under the banners of the Federal Union and the Confederacy from 1861 to 1865. Those memories in many minds even now are like sensitive scar tissue.

Historians now class the war between the states—known in northern American communities as the Civil War—as the first modern war, and certainly it made many changes in the art of battle both afoot and at sea.

It truly was a big war, considering the population at the time the north threw 2,128,948 men into action and suffered 349,944 casualties. The number of troops on the south's side is debatable. Northern historians put the figure as high as 1,400,000 out of a white population of only 5,000,000. Estimates by Southern historians go as low as 600,000. Woodrow Wilson said the south put 900,000 in the field and placed their losses in killed and wounded at 133,821.

As in most wars before the development of sanitation techniques, disease took more lives than bullets. The north, for example, lost only about 110,000 men from combat wounds. It lost nearly 200,000 through diseases.

The north ended the war by the grinding weight of superior manpower and industrial might. But the south managed to emerge with most of the heroes.

Certainly today when school-boys, both north and south, read of the great battles of that war, their hearts go out most to the chieftains of "the lost cause"—soldiers like Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson, and the Sabre-in-uniform, Jeb Stuart.

My own father of that period has always been Stonewall Jackson, who died and left an immortal name at 39. German Field Marshal Rommel once came over to the Shenandoah valley to study Jackson's famous blitzkrieg marches of 1862.

They still teach Jackson's tactics at West Point, but if they have produced another Stonewall he is hiding his light under a bushel.

Try Interesting Your Husband In Hobby To Enliven Weekends

A wife has reason for concern if her husband seems restless and bored in his own home.

Writes a 42-year-old wife: "My husband seems so restless and bored when he is around the house for any length of time that it is beginning to get on my nerves. He doesn't seem to know what to do with himself when he gets away from his office. I think he is really relieved after each weekend when Monday morning rolls around and he can get back to his job."

Is he spending all of his leisure time at home? If so, maybe he needs to get off occasionally with men friends for hunting, fishing, golf or whatever would appeal to him. Or maybe you are both sticking too close to home, and need to get away for an occasional evening out.

But from the sound of your letter, it may be that your husband needs to get interested in a hobby he can pursue at home.

The active men who are most contented at home usually are men with such hobbies as wood working, gardening, gun collecting, etc.

MANY HOURS LEAD HUSBANDS TO HOBBIES

The hours they spend at home are spent doing something they like to do, and so they keep busy and happy.

It is mighty easy for a man who doesn't like to sit and read to get bored around a house, especially if he isn't the kind of man who enjoys playing with the children or working around the house and yard.

A hobby he can pursue at home is a wonderful thing for such a man. So see what you can do to encourage your husband to get interested in a hobby.

You might be surprised if you knew how many men have been led to hobbies by their wives. A wife gets interested in growing roses and pretty soon her husband is the gardening expert in the family.

A wife gives her husband a power tool for a birthday or Christmas gift and before long the basement is a workshop.

So see what you can do to get your husband started on something that will make home a place where he can keep busy doing something he likes to do.

The World Today

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 29.—(P)—Watching Congress do its arithmetic is one of the strange sights. On the foreign aid bills, for instance.

It would be tough to visualize a million dollars unless you piled it up in one dollar bills. It would be tougher to visualize what it would buy or do if you were voting to cut that much money from a bill, or add it.

Not for Congress. Congress just whacks it or adds it.

It might seem far tougher to juggle 20 million or even one billion dollars in foreign aid when the money might be used for everything from guns to butter.

Apparently this doesn't give Congress too much trouble, either, judging from the way it handled the foreign aid bill.

President Truman and all his top brass in Washington recommended $7,900,000,000 in foreign aid.

The House foreign affairs committee and the Senate foreign relations committee lopped one billion off that. Then the house sliced off some more, approving $6,163,000,000.

Only a handful of people on the floor could have had anything approaching a precise notion of just what they were cutting off in aid.

Then came the Senate's turn. Just like tick, tack, toe, proposals were made to lop off one billion, 500 million and 400 million from the $6,163,000,000 recommended by the Senate's own committee.

All three proposals were voted down. Then Sen. Long, Louisiana Democrat, arose with a suggestion to knock off 200 million. Bingo. The senate approved that much cut.

General Eisenhower had warned that any cut larger than the billion recommended by two committees would be playing with danger. His rival for the Republican presidential nomination, Sen. Taft, said a cut of two billion would be just about right. How Eisenhower or Taft arrived at their figures is not known either.

When the Senators voted last night, most of those supporting Taft voted in favor of cutting, most of those backing Eisenhower went along with the Democrats who fought the cuts.

Faces Still Red From '48 Poll, Writers Pick Ike, Stevenson

By Peter Edson

Washington.—(NEA)—To know how good Newsweek Magazine's poll of 50 Washington political writers is on picking the most likely presidential tickets, the 1952 results must be judged along with predictions made by a similar group in 1948.

Pooled on June 7, 1948, all 50 of the correspondents—including this writer—predicted that the Republicans had the best chance to win the election.

The late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg was picked by 28 of the 50 writers as the most likely to get the GOP nomination. Governor Dewey of New York was second with 15 votes. Stevenson was favorite for Republican vice president with 15 votes.

The Democratic ticket was predicted as Truman and ex-Gov. Minn. C. W. Fairbank of Washington. On Oct. 11, 1948, the same 50 correspondents guessed Dewey would get 376 electoral votes, Truman 116. Actually Truman got 303 votes, Dewey 189.

With that background in mind, the vote of the 50 correspondents this year is 35 votes for Eisenhower, 11 for Taft as GOP presidential candidate, 16 for Warren, 8 for Dirksen as vice president.

Democratic preference are 20 for Stevenson, 17 for Kefauver for President, 13 for Russell, 9 for Kefauver as vice president.

Political leaders of the old South are still counting on the possibility of a third presidential candidate this fall if the northern Democrats insist on a strong civil rights plank in the platform, calling for compulsory FEPC, federal poll tax ban and federal anti-lynch law.

This sentiment is particularly strong among congressional delegates from the deep South.

This time the Southerners would try to keep the name of the Democratic Party and its ballot emblem, the rooster, for themselves. They would try to make it appear that the northern or "jackass" wing of the party was the real "third" party for having deserted the principles of true democracy.

When it is pointed out that this split would only insure the election of a Republican president, southern leaders merely shrug their shoulders. They feel that would be preferable to another four years of northern Democratic rule.

But privately there is some lingering belief and hope that the election might be thrown into the House of Representatives, where the southerners would hold balance-of-power control. It's an old dream that fades hard.

EAT WELL for Less

Give Dad a Layer Cake Treat

THREE LAYERS of delight for Father's Day are contained in his devil's food cake, garnished on the side with neckties of frosting.

BY FAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Here's a cake just for Father on his day. It's a three-layered beauty, a chocolate cake—his favorite kind—feathery light and downy tender, lavishly filled and frosted with fluffy sea foam frosting.

In keeping with the occasion neckties are outlined in frosting on the side of the cake. Who said Dad is the forgotten man?

Father's Devil's Food Cake

Four squares unsweetened chocolate, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk, 2½ cups sifted cake flour, 1½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup shortening, 1½ cups sugar, 3 eggs, unbeaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla, buttermilk or sour milk (with butter, margarine or lard, use 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons buttermilk. With vegetable or any other shortening, use 1½ cups buttermilk).

Melt chocolate over boiling water, add 1 cup sugar and 1 cup buttermilk and stir until well blended. Cool. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda and salt and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add 1½ cups sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add about one-fourth of flour mixture and mix thoroughly. Then add chocolate mixture and vanilla; blend. Add remaining flour, alternately with buttermilk, a small amount at a time, beating very thoroughly after each addition.

Turn batter into three round 9-inch layer pans which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.)

25 minutes, or until done. When cool, frost top and sides with sea-foam 7-minute frosting. To decorate, prepare confectioners' sugar frosting by mixing confectioners' sugar with milk; tint, if desired. Place in pastry tube; outline figures on cakes as illustrated.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas and strawberries, shredded wheat, enriched soft rolls, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Tuna, sliced hard-boiled eggs, minced onion, tomato and lettuce salad, dressing, crispy bread, butter or fortified margarine, canned fruit, cookies, tea, milk.

Legion To Make Pilgrimage To Children's Home

Normal, Illinois—The Illinois American Legion's annual "Pilgrimage to Normal" will be held at the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Children's School here Sunday, June 8th. Sponsored by the Legion and Auxiliary, Forty and Eight and Eight and Forty, the annual event furnishes a full day's fun for the 350 ISSCS youngsters, complete with a picnic and parade.

Starting at 10:00 a. m., members of the veterans groups and their families will arrive to register and start preparations for individual (noon) picnics usually held outside the children's cottages sponsored by their respective districts.

A parade around the ISSCS campus is scheduled for 2:45 p. m. (D.S.T.) Legion and Forty and Eight musical and marching units will participate, plus the usual colorful "locomotives" and "boxcars," trademarks of the Legion's fun and honor society, carrying their cheerful load of ISSCS youngsters.

A Hammond organ, gift of Illinois Legion and Auxiliary to the children will be presented at 2:00 to 2:30 p. m., in addition to several presentations of gifts to various cottages by Legion and Forty and Eight sponsors.

Social Events

Business Woman's Class Lists Nominating Committee
The Business Woman's Bible class of the Central Christian church met recently with Mrs. Raymond Hardy at 501 North Prairie street. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Laurence Hembrough and Mrs. Sadie Brown.

After a delicious potluck supper the president, Mrs. Raymond Davidson, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Jessie Mikesell gave the secretary's report. Miss Opal Keil offered the treasurer's report. A nominating committee was appointed as Mrs. Laurence Hembrough, Mrs. Marie Shearhorn and Mrs. Ladora Rentschler.

During the social hour whoopee was played with prizes going to Mrs. Charles Adams and Mrs. Donald Crain. Miss Phyllis Mason was a guest.

Sheriff Chosen Salvation Army County Chairman

Earl Hembrough, Sheriff of Morgan County, will head the County Division in the $100,000 Salvation Army new building program, it was announced Thursday by J. R. "Dick" Stratman, campaign general chairman.

"We are very fortunate," Stratman said, "in obtaining Sheriff Hembrough as county chairman because I believe that almost every resident of the county knows and is known by the Sheriff. In addition to this wide acquaintance, he has also headed a similar division in various other campaigns which will be a great asset to us."

Sheriff Hembrough will head an organization that will cover the solicitation throughout Morgan county outside of the immediate area of Jacksonville. Each town in the county will be organized separately and in that way more thorough coverage will be obtained.

"It is a privilege," Sheriff Hembrough said, "to serve on this Salvation Army Campaign along with the other people who are giving so generously of their time and efforts. I know that the county residents will be among the first to do their part in this civic undertaking. I'm sure that all of them realize that this is not just a campaign for Jacksonville, because the Salvation Army does not restrict its services to any town limits, but for the last 63 years has been serving all of the communities and residents of Morgan county."

The campaign to raise funds for a Salvation Army building on West Douglas avenue will be conducted during June. The new building will replace the present structure East Beecher avenue which has become obsolete and over-crowded.

Headquarters have been established in Room 207, Dunlap Hotel, where the phone is 2403.

Wednesday's judges in the Courtous Driver's contest got in on three interesting situations:

1. They gave a $5 check to a girl who was taking her driver's examination.
2. They found a man who could really handle a car, but he didn't have his driver's license signed.
3. They found a woman who had been driving for 22 years. But her car had been on the road three years earlier.

The first photo shows Jim Coults, a sophomore at Jacksonville high school. They had spotted her driving the training car on the south side of the square. She checked her speed to give two pedestrians the right of way as she headed into East Morgan street. She signalled and made a full stop at East street, turned south, drove expertly, and made another correct stop at Franklin. The judges decided she was entitled to $5.

They found Examiner Fred M. Easton, Springfield, was giving Mrs. Shaffner her driver's examination. She didn't have a license, but showed a permit. A half-hour later she was accredited for a license by Easton, an employee of the Department of Public Safety.

Miss Shaffner is the daughter of Mrs. Beatrice Shaffner, 707 West Douglas avenue.

Coults represented the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Hoffmann represented the Junior Women's club.

Twenty minutes later the judges found an excellent driver, to be unnamed. He had neglected to sign his driver's license, and lost the $5. But he signed it immediately and saved himself the possibility of paying a fine up to $300 on some future date.

Twenty minutes later the judges spied a 1927 Ford coupe, with the driver signalling a left hand turn into North Clay avenue. They decided to follow. She signalled and stopped at Douglas, turned east and moved along at a splendid clip, signalling each turn enroute to her home, 714 Sheridan. She was Mrs. Fannie Boehs, a housemaid at MacMurray College.

As John Prickett of the Chamber of Commerce handed her the $5 check she patted the radiator cap and declared, "Henry is the best car ever built."

Camp Ellis Lands Not Available For State

Springfield, Ill., May 29—(P)—Two bills before Congress "apparently void the state conservation department's chances to acquire what it desires of Camp Ellis," Director Leonard Schwartz said today.

The 17,000 acre military tract in Fulton county was recently declared surplus by the General Services Administration (GSA).

In Washington, the House has passed a bill permitting GSA either to give former owners first chance to buy back land the government took over for the camp or to put the property up for auction.

This bill, and one by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) which would require that former owners be given first chance to buy back the land, are before the Senate committee on government operations.

Jack Weeks, Once Of Scott County, Dies In Texas

Word has been received of the death of Jack Weeks, former Scott county man, who died Thursday, May 22 at Waco, Texas where he has operated a Dairy Queen ice cream refreshment stand for the past ten months, just recently opening his own store in Waco.

Mr. Weeks suffered a cerebral hemorrhage the morning of the day he died and was taken to the Providence hospital in that city, expiring at 5:30 p. m. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lillian Evans Weeks of Winchester, two brothers and two sisters, Robert Weeks, Peoria; James Weeks, Belleville; Betty Evans of De Moines, Ia., and Miss Janie Weeks of Waco, Texas. The deceased was 44 years of age.

Funeral services were held in Waco with interment in the Memorial Park cemetery in that city.

Births

Announcement has been made of the birth of a son, Robert Charles, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winkelman, 3243 Palmer street, Springfield, Ill., on May 27 at Springfield Memorial hospital. Mrs. Winkelman is the former Mildred Hackman of Azenville.

A daughter was born at 3:48 p. m. Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Rigg of Jacksonville route one at the Passavant hospital and weighed eight pounds and 12 ounces.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Willard Prewitt of 817 West Chambers street at 4:11 a. m. Thursday at Passavant hospital weighing eight pounds and six ounces.

Proposed New Assembly Of God Church

Pictured above is a building which the Assembly of God church of this city plans to duplicate on its newly acquired property on East Vandalla road, a short distance east of Main street. The approximate cost of the building, ultra modern and unique in design, will be $50,000.

The Assembly of God, now located at 331 West Douglas avenue, has sold its property to the Salvation Army and has purchased five lots on East Vandalla, one-half block off U. S. Route 67. Building plans will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

The church was organized in 1939 under the leadership of Rev. W. A. Gardner. It has grown until its present facilities are inadequate.

Plans for the new building were drawn by Carroll Reost, a Jacksonville contractor. The front will be of glass with glass doors and Bedford stone. The new church will have a seating capacity of 400, with Sunday school rooms and offices in the rear. The balcony also will provide space for several Sunday school rooms.

Some of the more interesting features of the new church will be a beautifully decorated vestibule, picture baptistry, indirect lighting, radiant heat, a sound system, and Hammond electric organ.

Plans call for a spacious drive around the entire building, parking areas, and landscaped grounds.

Loral Farmer, a salesman at the DeWitt Motor Co. garage, is chairman of the finance committee for the new church. All gifts and contributions can be made payable to Mr. Farmer, or to other members of the committee including Dominick Shalla, powder technician at Nesco; Elveta Thompson, 1618 Chilton avenue, and John Steinhoff of the Steinhoff Piano Co., South Main and Greenwood.

Memorial Day Parade Marches At 11 A. M.

With business houses closed for Memorial Day the annual parade at 11 o'clock will be the high light of the observance Friday.

Many patriotic organizations, civic clubs and social groups are participating. The Jacksonville Junior Women's club committee, of which Mrs. Dale Decker is chairman, has worked hard in organizing the Memorial Day parade. Fred R. Bailey of the American Legion post will be the parade marshal. The Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Amvets and their auxiliaries are most concerned in making the parade venture a big one.

Any group or organization wishing to join the above groups may still do so and acquire a station in the parade line-up by contacting Fred R. Bailey, phone 167 or Mrs. Dale Decker at 20522. In case of cloudy skies at parade time, which is not predicted, the procession will march as soon as any rain subsides.

PERFECT ATTENDANCE

Larry DeGroot, a student at the Lynnville school, had a perfect attendance record during the past term which closed May 23. He is the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe DeGroot, Jr., of Winchester Route 3. His teacher is Miss Louise Bool.

Graduation At Woodson School Held Wednesday

Graduation services for eight grade students of the Woodson elementary school were held Wednesday night at the school.

The invocation was given by Dr. Arie Vanderhorst pastor of the Unity Presbyterian church followed by the song, "Neapolitan Nights."

Mary Lou Walker and Dorothy Killebrew gave the class history; Bonnie Lou Hayes and Carolyn Cline the class prophecy and Wanda Surratt and Richard Vanderhorst the class will.

Carolyn Cline played an accordion solo. The commencement address was given by Dr. C. P. McClelland, president of MacMurray College, Jacksonville. Special music was presented by four students from the State Normal University, Dolores Lauf, Mary Schreengost, Lillian Fitzsimmons and Eileen McElrath.

The class was presented by the board of education superintendent and diplomas were given out by Robert W. Broome, president of the board of education. The class song "Bells of the Sea" were sung by the class and Rev. Vanderhorst gave the benediction. Miss Slaughter played "Aida Verdi" as the recessional.

Students graduating were Patricia Janet Carpenter, Carolyn Ruth Cline, Bonnie Lou Hayes, Orval Eugene Hayes, Walter Armond Miller, William Gene Kindred, Dorothy Ferne Killebrew, Mable Marlene McDannald, Carmen Nadeane Sooy, Violet Eugene Spencer, Wanda June Surratt, James Richard Vanderhorst and Mary Lou Walker.

Lutheran Class To Be Confirmed Sunday Morning

A group of twelve children will be received into communicant church membership at Salem Lutheran church next Sunday at 10 a. m., by the rite of confirmation. The children have been receiving special religious instruction for the past two years, and last Sunday they were publicly examined. In the confirmation service they will also receive their first Communion. At the close of the service, nine of the children who have been attending the Christian Day School of the congregation, will receive their diplomas. These will be awarded by Edward Wiegand, chairman of the church's Board of Christian Education.

Guest Speaker

Milburn Akers, executive editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, will address a combined meeting of Rotary and the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce at 12:15 p. m. Friday at the Dunlap hotel. The program will honor Dr. C. P. McClelland, who is retiring as president of MacMurray College after serving more than 25 years. Akers, a veteran of 30 years in newspaper and public relations work, is a trustee of MacMurray College and McKendree College of Lebanon, Ill.

Wm. Bohnemeyer Of Winchester Dies Thursday

Winchester—William B. Bohnemeyer, 60 year old Winchester resident, died at 10:45 a. m. Thursday at his home after an illness of the past two years. Mr. Bohnemeyer was a resident of Scott county for 15 years. He worked at the local Kroger store and before retiring due to ill health two years ago he was manager of the Winchester Locker plant. He was born April 7, 1892 at Warrenton, Mo., the son of Henry and Josephine Gardner Bohnemeyer. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Edna Bohnemeyer and two children, Mrs. John Nieburg and William Bohnemeyer both of Warrenton. One sister, Mrs. Manuel Barbaum of Warrenton also survives. There are four grandchildren. The remains were taken to the Cunningham funeral home, where services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday. Rev. P. V. Wright, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate. Burial will be made in Winchester cemetery.

T. V. Smith To Address MacMurray Graduates

Dr. T. V. Smith, professor of poetry, politics and philosophy in the Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University, will deliver the principal address at the MacMurray College commencement in Annie Merner chapel late Sunday afternoon. His topic will be "Middle Sized Heroism." Prof. Smith is widely known in professional academic circles and for his activities in various phases of public life. Fifteen years ago he was a congressman-at-large from Illinois and was highly respected throughout the nation as one of the intellectual leaders of the New Deal in Congress. Previous to his term in the House of Representatives, Smith was a prominent state senator in Illinois. At that date he was also professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago.

T. V. SMITH

The speaker has had a long, eventful and distinguished career in the academic world. He began his professional career as head of the English department at Texas Christian University and subsequently taught at the Universities of Texas, Cornell, Columbia, Illinois and Barnard College. For 25 years he was a member of the faculty of the University of Chicago, teaching literature, philosophy and the philosophy of politics. A few years ago he went to Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., to his present position. Prof. Smith's many-sided career has included a long term as editor of Ethics magazine and as the author of 20 books. Some of his better known works are a number connected with his specialty, the philosophy of politics. Among these are "Foundations of Democracy," co-authored with Sen. Robert A. Taft, and "The Democratic Way of Life."

Other books either popular or professionally valued for erudite insight and good writing are "Philosophers in Hades," "Lincoln: Living Legend," "Legislative Way of Life," "Atomic Power and Moral Faith," and "Creative Skepticism." While at the University of Chicago, the speaker was one of the founders of the famous University of Chicago roundtable, aired over the radio for many years. He has appeared since on many radio programs devoted to public questions or learned subjects. Prof. Smith has appeared in Jacksonville on several occasions in the past and is well remembered as a witty, imaginative as well as learned speaker. In keeping with his personality, he says his present ambition is "to deserve the title 'the Sage of Syracuse'."

Commencement at the college will begin at 5 p. m. It will be the climax of a full day of graduation week festivities at MacMurray. In the morning, baccalaureate will be held in the chapel, at which Dr. Gerald O. McCulloh of Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, will deliver the sermon. The commencement at MacMurray will be the final one presided over by President Clarence P. McClelland, who has headed the institution for more than 25 years.

Closing Program Of School Year Held At Glasgow

Glasgow—Although the last day of school for the Glasgow grades will not be until Thursday, conflicting activities prompted the school to hold its closing program Tuesday evening.

The event opened with a potluck supper. A program was presented by the Roodhouse German Band, known as "Louie's Hungry Five," composed of Lewis Johnson as "Louie," Dr. Frank Klansack as "August," Bill Ferguson as "Heine," Emmett Edwards as "Emil," and Merle Mackey as "Otto." "Louie" served as master of ceremonies.

Other numbers inserted throughout the band's repertoire included a piano duet by Linda Smith and Sandra Cowper, separate piano selections by each, and group songs by the school children.

Graduate At Winchester

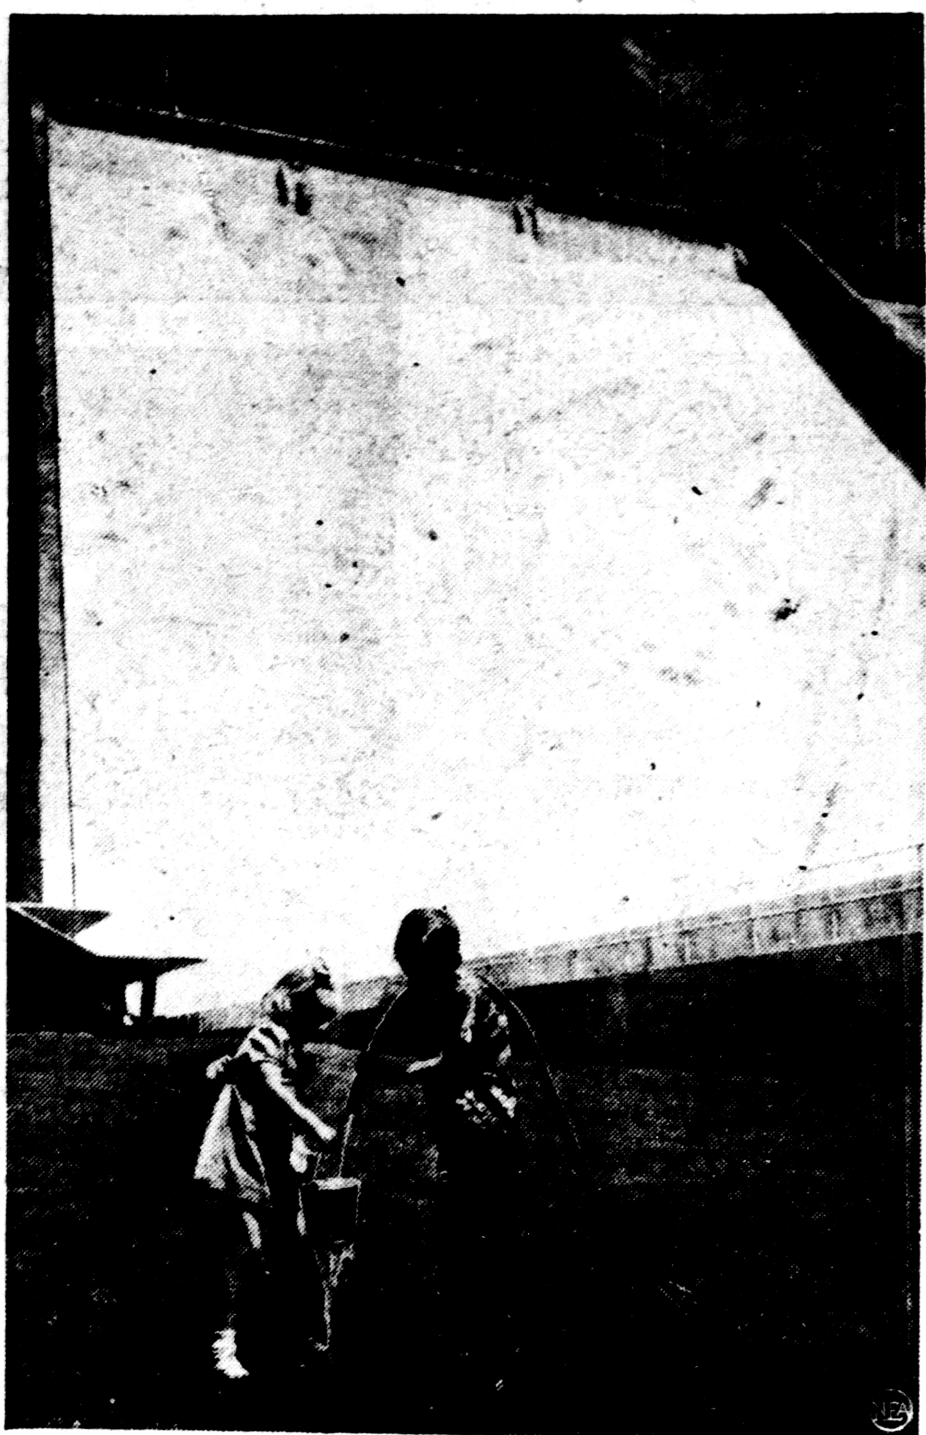

Eight Glasgow students received diplomas as seniors of the Winchester community high school at commencement exercises held there Wednesday evening.

The Glasgow graduates are: Suzanne Sanderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sanderson; Charlene Hester, daughter of Mrs. May Hester; Reba Rider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Rider; Ruth Daniels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Daniels; Ruth Jean Hutchings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Hutchings; Howard Brinker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brinker; Gayle McEvers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McEvers; Roger Fundel, son of Mrs. Lena Fundel.

A number of relatives and friends from this community attended funeral services for Mrs. Harris I. Simons in Jacksonville Monday afternoon. The decedent was a native of Glasgow.

Mrs. Everette Hester, Mrs. J. H. Edwards and Mrs. Pearl Fundel were delegates from the Glasgow unit of the Morgan-Scott Home Bureau attending the Home Bureau convention and sight-seeing trip in Chicago Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith of Glasgow have received word of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Don Clark of St. Louis on May 22 at St. Anthony's hospital there. The mother was formerly Miss Zoanne Smith. The new arrival has been named Kathy Michelle.

TRICKLE DWARFS TORRENT—Mighty Shasta Dam, in California, spills over for the first time to relieve pressure of the 35-mile lake behind it, but Carla Benoit, 3, and her brother, Terry, 5, are more interested in their own private irrigation project. Shasta, second largest dam in the world, aids in flood control on the Sacramento River, and impounds melting snows from the Cascade range. The 487-foot fall is three times higher than Niagara Falls.

Former White Hall Man, Back From Korea, Married

White Hall—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pruitt returned home this week from Moline, Ill., where they visited their son, Sam Pruitt, and family and attended the wedding of their grandson, Minor Hutchens, who has recently returned from Korea.

Mr. Hutchens and Miss Aletha Jervis of Rock Island were married Saturday, May 17, at 11 o'clock at Memorial Christian church in Moline. A reception was held at the Johnsons Tea Room following the ceremony.

The groom attended the local schools before serving with the armed forces and returns to Port Sheridan for a five months reassignment before receiving his discharge.

Class Plants Field
The Men's class of the First Baptist church planted five acres of corn this week on the Henry Joutet farm near here. The crop will be harvested for the benefit of the class. The seed was furnished by Garvin Day.

Others assisting in the work were John Vestal, Kenneth Davis, Latmer Martin, Elmer Suttles, Henry Joutet, Jim Pratt and John Raabe.

Graduates Honored

The First Baptist church honored graduates of the junior and high school at a service last Sunday.

The high school graduates include Betty Roberts, Jean Israel Fletcher, JoAnn Fisher, Harold Simmons, Leroy Kenney, Buddy Ritchey. The boys were given initialed handkerchiefs; the girls neck scarves.

Junior high graduates were Hazel Camerer, Evelyn Culbreth, Linda Jane Davis, Emily Dawson, Linda Griffin, Genon Keeney, Rita Martin, Janet Price, Wanda Roberts, Carol Schmalz, Edna Talkington, Helen Taylor, Elizabeth Young, Eugene Bryant, Darwin Blacketter, Paul Carter, Larry Frye, Donald Heberling, Larry Ford and Ronald Piper.

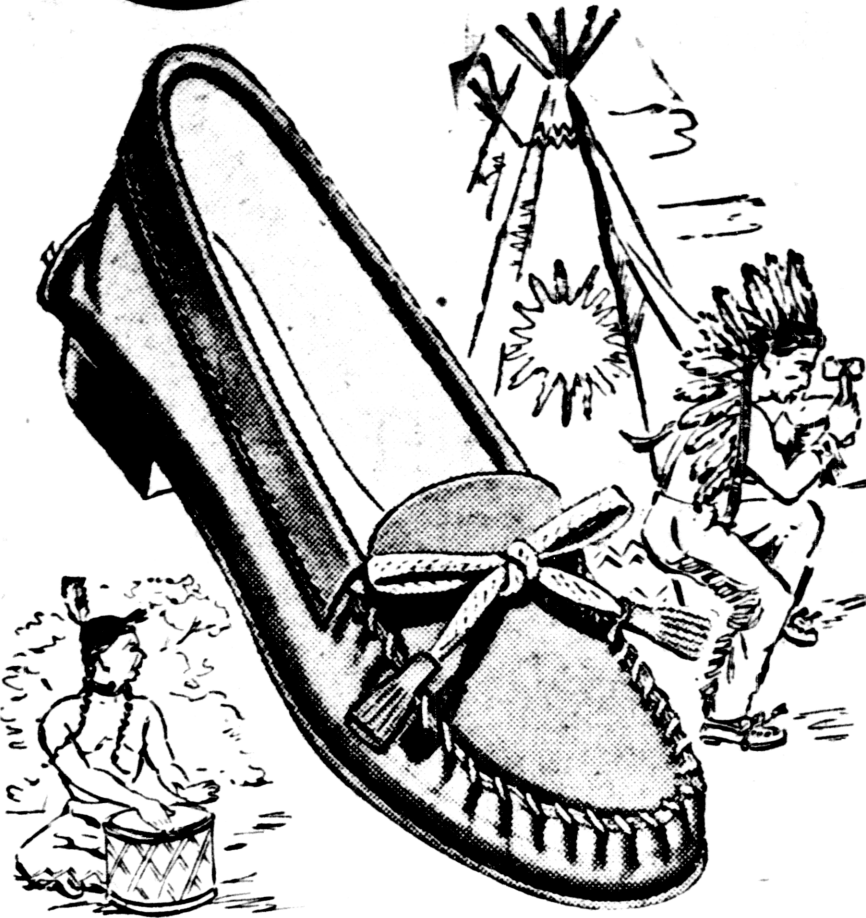

Although in theory a mile of railroad rail welded together would change length as much as 4 or 5 feet between summer and winter temperatures, it has been found in practice that this does not happen.

Public Library News Notes

The Jacksonville Public Library will be closed all day Memorial Day. Summer hours will begin Monday, June 2. Both the adult and the young people's departments will be open every weekday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. In addition, the adult department will be open until 9 p.m. two evenings, Wednesday and Saturday.

The privilege of two seven-day books on a card will again be extended. Now that the usual library circulation period is four weeks, special vacation charges are seldom necessary. However, those who plan to be out of town longer than four weeks may make special vacation arrangements with the assistant at the circulation desk.

The following, and other fiction, await the summer reader.

"The Physicians" is a story of the contrasts between a western trained Chinese woman doctor and her physician grandfather learned in the ancient wisdom of China. The author, Dr. Hazel Lin, has doubtless drawn from her personal experiences as a Chinese woman physician, born and trained in Peking, continuing her studies at the University of Michigan and now practicing in New Jersey.

In "There Was a Man in Our Town" Granville Hicks tells of a retired professor who determined to "take this town apart and put it together—right." The town was never quite the same after Professor Hodder's efforts—but then, neither was the professor.

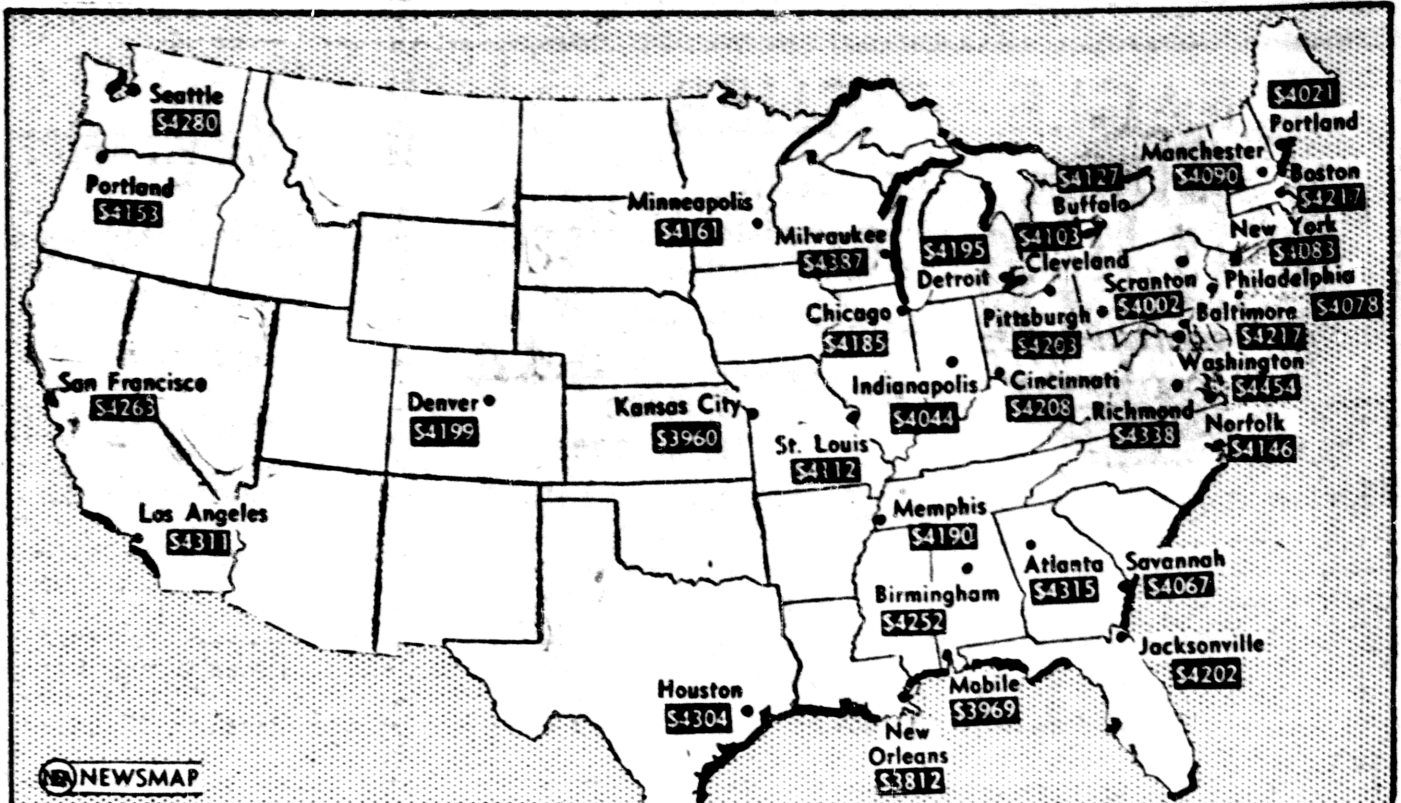

Carl Moberg, born of peasant stock in Smaland, Sweden, grew up listening to letters from his six aunts and uncles who migrated to America. He gained knowledge and a warm understanding of "The Emigrants" which enliven his novel of that period when a quarter of Sweden's people came to America.

Should you talk back to the boss? "Yes indeed, especially when you know more than he does, as I do," says Mr. Botts of William Upson's "No Rest for Botts, Earthworms Make the World Go Round." Botts acts as well as speaks in this amusing and different novel.

CARROLLTON

Carrollton—Mr. and Mrs. Oren Siebermann and daughter, Miss Betty Ann, of this city and Sgt. P. J. Fuller of Clinton, Ind., spent Tuesday afternoon and evening in Vandalia at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meldrum.

Ranging from $3812 in New Orleans to $4454 in Washington, D. C., the figures represent goods and services required, and taxes paid, by a family consisting of a father, housewife not gainfully employed and two children under 15 years of age. Highest housing costs, which accounted for big living cost differences between cities, were reported in Washington, Richmond, Houston and Milwaukee. Cities cited as having highest food costs were Savannah, Mobile, Atlanta, Seattle and Birmingham.

has been transferred to the management of the same company in Havana.

Mr. and Mrs. Berkley Neaville will spend the Memorial Day holiday in Mt. Vernon with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Neaville and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Caldwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hackley and Mrs. Arthur Robley, Sr., will spend the weekend in Louisville, Ky., at the home of the Hackley's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robley Hackley.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brannan went to Chicago Tuesday to spend the remainder of the week visiting relatives.

Sgt. 1/c Jerome Steinacher and his twin brother, Sgt. Joseph Steinacher, who have been stationed at Kasser, Germany, since Feb. 14, 1951, expect to leave there for the states May 29 according to word received here Monday by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steinacher.

Ray Ballard, son of Mrs. C. W. Ballard of this city, has resigned his position in the personnel department in the Macon county hospital in Decatur to accept a position in the C.I.P.S. office in Springfield.

WAVERLY

Waverly—George Edwards entered Our Saviour's hospital in Jacksonville Tuesday afternoon for treatment.

Auto Daredevils Work To Reduce Accidents On Nation's Highways

The Thrillcade auto daredevils, who will perform at Morgan county fair grounds Sunday afternoon, 3 o'clock, have been working with Herman P. Roth, associate psychologist at the University of California.

Roth, head of the school's institute of transportation and traffic engineering, has been working with the stuntmen now for the last six months on a project that has been going on since the invention of the automobile—how to save lives on the highway.

One of the major contributions of the stuntmen has been to produce for Professor Roth head-on crashes under almost any conditions he might specify. They have collided fast, furious, sideways and head-on for Roth and at designated spots.

While the almost unimaginable camera, which records 5000 frames a second and times each one of them, is watching, the stuntmen have brought about crashes at fantastic speeds—and have made them happen in an area that could be covered with a blanket!

Physicists have determined that the human body can absorb up to ten G's of force without serious effects. Roughly speaking a "G" of force, in the physicist's terminology, is about six times the pressure of your body against the floor standing. In short, a human can stand about sixty times his own force of gravity without deleterious effects. Consequently, many injuries come outside this realm, or the concentration of force in a single spot, instead of the force being spread, causes most of the injuries.

The Thrillcade men have determined that a head-on crash at 40 miles-an-hour, creating an impact of some 80 miles-an-hour, is the maximum the human body can stand, provided all other conditions are perfect. And what happens if conditions aren't perfect? That's what makes stunt shows thrilling.

Someday your car may be equipped with a safety belt.

Another interesting fact established is that the car going the slowest receives the greater impact in an accident... simply because it abruptly changes from forward to reverse, while the faster car simply slows to a stop while traveling in a single direction.

Someday your car may be equipped with a safety belt, the same kind the Thrillcade daredevils use, this should reduce injuries by 20 percent.

One bit of advice right now, though, that may save you from more serious injury, is if you see you are going to be a part of an accident—try to relax. A relaxed body distributes the force of the impact more than a taut one.

It's a great thing, if you can do it—relax in an accident. But don't say we didn't tell you.

Phillies Pare Giants NL Lead With 6-5 Setback

Philadelphia, May 29.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies cut the New York Giants' National League lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers to a game and a half today with a 6 to 5 win that almost got away from them in the last inning.

The league leaders threatened in the ninth, scoring twice on singles by Wes Westrum, Dave Williams, Whitely Lockman and Bob Thomson.

Carl Drews, who started for the Phillies, was relieved by Jim Konstanty in the eighth. Konstanty gave way to Andy Hansen in the ninth and Ken Heintzelman finally stopped the New York surge.

The loss was a tough one to take for the Giants because they went into the ninth knowing that the Dodgers had defeated the Boston Braves 7 to 3.

Small Gorham Upsets Pekin Nine In State

Peoria, Ill., May 29.—(AP)—Gorham, smallest school entered in the 13th annual state high school baseball tournament, today knocked over favored Pekin's defending champions, 2-1, in a 10-inning meeting.

Notre Dame of Quincy kept its unbeaten record intact by defeating Waukegan, 4-0, in the opening tournament game at Com Connor Field.

Gorham pitcher, Lew Glidewell scattered six hits, struck out 16, and walked none in a game sent into three extra innings by a Pekin run scored in the fifth on two errors, a wild pitch and a stolen base. High schools play regulation seven-inning games.

Gorham scored first on two walks and a double by Glidewell in the first inning. The tourney's smallest school, with an enrollment of 115, won when Tom Morgan tripled home Bob White in the tenth.

Pekin had been favored to become

Coaching Clinic At Western State June 10th, 11th

Macomb—(Special)—The second annual athletic coaching school, jointly sponsored by Illinois State Normal University and Western Illinois State college will be held on the campus of Western Illinois State June 10 and 11.

Football and basketball will head the program along with golf, tennis, wrestling and the officiating of basketball and football.

Sid Gillman, football coach at the University of Cincinnati, will handle the grid sport and the officiating of football by Lyle "Dutch" Clarno, one of the nation's top whistle-blowers.

Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, basketball coach at the State University of Iowa, will be in charge of the hard-court sport along with Russ Ahearn, coach of the Hebron Green Giants, Illinois State High School champions.

Void Basilio's Upset Win Over Chuck Davey

Syracuse, N. Y., May 29.—(AP)—Carmen Basilio's upset victory over Chuck Davey of Lansing, Mich., was voided tonight by a deputy commissioner of the State Athletic Commission, who said the ultimate outcome rests with Chairman Bob Christenberry.

Thomas Grauly of Troy, N. Y., voided the decision a half-hour after Basilio had been announced as winner in a split verdict. Judge Dick Fazio called it five rounds for each fighter but gave Basilio from Canastota, N. Y., a 6-5 edge in points.

Judge Harvey Smith saw it five for Davey, four for Basilio and one even. Referee Joe Palmer then sent the 6,500 fans into an uproar with three rounds for each fighter and three even.

On points Palmer gave Basilio eight points and Davey six.

After examining the cards, Grauly said the card submitted by Palmer was incomplete. He immediately voided the decision and said the card would be sent to Christenberry for examination and ultimate outcome would be announced in New York.

The crux of the dispute revolved around the second and ninth rounds in which Referee Joe Palmer had the first team to retain its prep title two years in a row.

In the Notre Dame-Waukegan meeting, pitcher Jim Bickhaus struck out 12 Waukegan batters and allowed only one walk and three hits.

Peoria, Ill., May 29.—(AP)—Notre Dame high school of Quincy today stretched its season's record to 16-0 by defeating Waukegan, 4-0, in the opening game of the state high school baseball championship tournament at Tom Connor Field.

Notre Dame is the only undefeated team in the tournament.

Pitcher Jim Bickhaus struck out 12 Waukegan batters and allowed only one walk and three hits.

The Quincy team snared three runs in the third inning on George Kling's single, a walk, a third baseman's error and two outfield flies.

State Hospital Nine Wins 10-9 Over Elevators

GAMES TONIGHT
Greenfield vs. Merchants
Rogerson Coal vs. White Hall

The State Hospital softball club scored eight runs in the fifth inning then relied on steady pitching by Earl Lindsey to nip Lewis Elevator 10-9 at Nichols Park last night.

The Elevators grabbed a 4-0 lead in the first inning and that advantage was good until the Hospitals broke loose in the fifth.

McNeely and Schofield, twirled for the Hospitals, Turner started for the State with Lindsey garnering the victory in relief.

Dixon's nine whipped the House of Clay 12-0 in the five-inning opener.

Stephenson twirled for the winners and Robinson for the losers.

All managers of men's softball teams are reminded to meet at the Journal at 5:30 this afternoon. The teams will be divided into A and B leagues and plans made for the opening of the park this Sunday night when State Farm of Bloomington meets Lewis Elevator and the Hospital club plays the Northside Boosters of Alton.

FAN BREEZES

BY BOB MERRIS

There were only four baseball fans sitting in the right field bleachers at Sportsman's park Wednesday night, but Brown owner Bill Veck was one of them. The sportshirt clad ex-Marine likes to move about the outer fringes of the big park and talk to his boosters. When we moved in he was busy kidding some guy named Max about locating a comfortable seat. It's a cinch that Veck takes more interest in the customers than do his ushers.

Veck either recognized this corner or pretended to. We weren't exactly sure. After all, we'd only seen the guy twice. Funny thing, he did remember watching Ron Kemp play basketball for Jacksonville high in the State tournament. He knew that Kemp doesn't like a rock. "That kid built like a rock," Veck remembered.

We figured that maybe the Brown owner was trying to call attention away from his ball club that had sagged behind the White Sox 1-0 by this time. "What gives here," we were blunt about it. "The kids aren't hitting," Veck said, swinging an imaginary bat and almost lopping the heads off a couple of bleacher fans.

Jim Rivera, billed the rookie of the year before the season started, is hitting in the near neighborhood of 200. He's putting more furrows in Veck's brow than a three-bottom plow in a stubble field.

If first baseman Dick Krychski hadn't lost a ball over the right field stands late in the ball game, we were prepared to say that we saw the same old Browns with the exception of Marty Marion at shortstop and Clint Courtney at catcher.

But like Veck said, "The Browns will have three teams until we click. One team leaving, one team on the field and another coming up."

Hornsbys has managed to inject lots of hustle into the Browns. But the pride of the team Wednesday night was a "youngster" who never moves fast enough to break a sweat.

Twins Satchel Paige who saved the ball game when Satch is in the bullpen. And everybody sits a little straighter when the old boy steps onto the mound. The big-footed pitcher was a long time making the Majors but it'll take just as long for fans to stop talking about the lanky colored right hander.

Maury McDermott Faces 27 Nats, Red Sox Win 1-0

Boston, May 29.—(AP)—Lefty Maury McDermott, generally a wild pitching performer, faced only 27 Washington batters tonight while turning in a one-hit pitching performance for a 1-0 victory.

McDermott ruined McDermott's hit hopes in the fourth inning with a single before being wiped out in a double play.

McDermott, who now has a 3-2 record, opened the game by giving his only base on balls to lead-off Eddie Yost but Hoderlein, the second Washington batsman, hit into a double play.

Eddie Stanky Is Sorry He "Cut" Newsmen

Chicago, May 29.—(AP)—Eddie Stanky, apologizing to newsmen for an outburst during yesterday's St. Louis Cardinals-Chicago Cubs game, said he was on edge after leveling a fine against pitcher Harry Brecheen.

Newsmen yesterday had asked the field announcer to query the Cardinals' manager on the reason for Stan Musial's removal late in the game.

Stanky reportedly told the scribes to go fly a kite in unprintable language.

After the game, which the Cards lost 7-2, it was learned Musial had injured his knee in a fifth-inning fall in the outfield. He is expected to be back in the lineup tomorrow.

Stanky apologized last night for his comments, blaming it on his "bad disposition and temper." He disclosed that he was "on edge" after mulling out his first fine as Card manager.

He said he had leveled "an automatic $50 fine" against Brecheen for allowing Cub Bob Ramazotti to punt on a pitch-out in the third inning.

Quincy Cagers Shun Hebron On All-Opponent Five

Quincy, Ill., May 29.—(AP)—Members of the Quincy high school basketball team do not rate Hebron's Green Giants, individually, as state champions.

The Quincy players, after pondering the situation for 60 days, failed to place a single Hebron player on the Quincy squad's all-opponent team. Quincy lost to Hebron, 64-59, in a sizzling overtime for the State title last March.

Four other teams were represented on Quincy's six-man team. Taylorville's Bill Ridley and Lee Viskozki were chosen, while Edwardsville was represented by John Deterding and Freeport by Charles Cain.

The remaining two members were chosen from Missouri's class A championship St. Louis University high school. They are Jack Lhrdicks and Les Hohl.

Expect Fair Weather, Record-Cracking Race At Indianapolis Today

By Dale Burgess

Indianapolis, May 29.—(AP)—Bad weather, one of three things that could prevent a record-cracking 500-mile auto race Friday, probably will miss the Indianapolis Motor Speedway again.

The forecast is for a warm, partly cloudy Memorial Day. The start is at 11 a.m. Central Daylight Time. There will be a special speedway radio network, no television.

The most important American auto race, the only one that counts in the international standings, has been postponed only once since it started in 1911.

Rain shortened the 1926 race to 400 miles and the 1950 race to 345 miles.

The other two factors that could slow the race—wrecks and engine failures—may not be so well under control.

Everybody connected with the racing class has his fingers crossed after four straight years without a fatality in the actual race. William (Shorty) Canton of Indianapolis died in the 1947 "500."

The last of the track's 42 victims George Metzler of Indianapolis, was fatally injured practicing for the 1948 race.

The speed of the race has increased steadily, but the track has become safer. Part of the credit goes to modern times that quickly reduce the momentum of a skidding car. Part goes to improved chassis designs.

Johnny Parsons of Sherman Oaks, Calif., only former winner in the 33-car field, rates among the favorites in the 1950 winning car, the Jim Robbins Special.

Veteran newsmen at the track generally tagged Jack McGrath of Pasadena, Calif., as the man to beat if he keeps out of trouble. He was among last year's leaders, suffered severe leg cramps, and turned over the car to Manuel Ayulo of Burbank, Calif., for a third-place finish behind Lee Wallard and Mike Nazaruk.

Wallard didn't try to qualify a car this year because of injuries suffered in a racing accident four days after last year's Indianapolis race. He may drive relief for Duane Carter of Culver City, Calif.

The fastest qualifier were Chet Miller of Glendale, Calif., who set a 10-mile record of 139.034 in a Novi V-8; Bill Vukovich of Fresno, Calif., 138.212 in a fuel injection engineering special; Freddie Agabashian of Albany, Calif., 138.010 in the big new Cummins Diesel Special, and Andy Linden of Los Angeles, 137.002 in the Miracle Power Special.

Error Helps Yankees Nip Athletics 3-2

New York, May 29.—(AP)—An eighth-inning error by substitute first baseman Billy Hitchcock enabled the New York Yankees to nip the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-2, today.

Phil Rizzuto scored the winning run from second when Hitchcock permitted Yogi Berra's grounder to seep through him. Hitchcock was playing in place of Ferris Fain, who was sidelined with an injury.

Rain halted the contest for 18 minutes while the A's were at bat in the seventh.

Rizzuto opened the home eighth with a grounder through the box and he hustled it into a double when the wet grass in the outfield slowed up the ball as center fielder Philley came in to handle it. Bauer fled out and then Hitchcock made the error. McDougald followed by hitting into a forced play, so the run was unearned.

The crowd of 6,692 got a hearty laugh before the game began when the four umpires came out to work the game in civilian clothes. A baggage company had failed to pick up their equipment at Pennsylvania Station and bring it to Yankee Stadium along with the Athletics' trunks.

Illinois, Michigan Top Contenders In Big Ten Track

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 29.—(AP)—Past performances indicated that eight of the Big Ten schools would get only crumbs in the 52nd annual Western conference track and field championship here Friday and Saturday.

About 20 of the conference's finest athletes were to compete on University of Michigan's Ferry field in the Olympic-tinted track festival.

But indications were that Illinois, the defending champion and favorite, and Michigan, the host and chief challenger, would pick up most of the marbles when the big meet ends.

With Cirilo McSweeney in the 440 and Stacey Siders in the 880 and Joel McNulty in the hurdles as the Big Ten's top performers, the Illinois squad appeared capable of too many points.

In addition, the Illini boast Ron Mitchell in the high jump and pole vaulter Dick Coleman, another pair of conference "bests."

Michigan was out to pick up points in the distances and weights.

John Ross and defending champion Ron McEwen looked like tops in the mile.

Roland Nilsson, Michigan's member of the Swedish Olympic team, ranks number one in the shot and discus.

Northwestern's Jim Golliday and Iowa's Ira Murchison were expected to battle it out for supremacy in the 100 yard dash. Chuck Roland, of Michigan State, was given the best chance in the 220 yard dash. Ohio State's Bill Hairston was the best bet in the broad jump.

The meet was loaded with Olympic possibilities. Nilsson is already assigned to the Swedish team and Dennis Johansson, Purdue's fine miler, will represent Finland in the summer games at Helsinki.

Other good candidates must await Olympic tryouts for possible berths on the United States team.

The big meet will get underway at 2:30 p.m. (CDT) Friday with preliminaries.

Saturday's activities will start at 1:30 p.m. with the pole vault, first of 14 championship events.

90 Ride Train To Roodhouse For Roundhouse Tour

Ninety took a train trip to Roodhouse Sunday, May 25 arranged for members of South Jacksonville club pack 113 of which Harry Beasly is leader. Pack members and their parents made the trip and were met at Roodhouse by other parents who arrived by auto to take them to the city park at White Hall where the group enjoyed a basket dinner.

The group then returned to Roodhouse and were conducted on a tour of the roundhouse by Foreman M. D. Hanford.

Zingabado Grotto Marks 25th Year

Zingabado Grotto held its Spring Ceremonial in the Masonic Temple with 200 members and their guests attending.

A delicious ham dinner was served in the dining room decorated in observance to Zingabado Grotto's twenty-fifth anniversary. Spring flowers and white tapers with silver streamers were used on the banquet tables. The banquet was served by the DeMolay Mother's Circle.

Following the dinner, the Monarch, T. Ray Baker, introduced the officers of the Grotto, the candidates and the members of the degree cast, as well as the visitors.

Taking part in the degree cast were Harold Toussaint, Sr., Glenn Heidinger, Bob Dubois, Orville Ely, Floyd Boston, Byron Holkenbrink, Carl Anderson, Warren Hoagland, Orville Sherwood, Pryor Bossart, Jim Arnett, John Chapman, Louis Katz, Arthur Kelly, Bill Cruzan, Bill Jarrett, Charles Bealmeier, and James Dvorak. Frank Smith acted as narrator as well as directing the presentation of the degree. Edwy Chumley, E. W. Chumley and Rolyn Trotter were in charge of scenery and Carl Ore in charge of lights.

Those who were initiated into the order were Floyd Hess, Raymond Hayes, Bob Jameson, Edmund Vorhes, H. E. Ross, Clyde Rudisill, Carm Poter and Lester Henry.

Art Swanson's nationally famous Thrillcade will be in Jacksonville Sunday June 1 for an afternoon showing, which will be sponsored by Zingabado Grotto.

The next regular meeting of the Grotto will be held in the Masonic Temple on Wednesday, June 4.

All Grains Advance On Board of Trade

Chicago, May 29—(P)—Grains advanced in moderately active dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Much of the activity was centered in soybeans, where the July contract ran up to a new seasonal high during the morning, but the most sustained strength developed in distant corn crops. They gained around 2 cents at times.

There was a good deal of short-covering prior to the long week-end, particularly in view of international uncertainties. July wheat held above the season low scored yesterday. Soybean oil gained another 1/2 to 108 cents a pound.

Receipts were: wheat 4, cars, corn 102, oats 4, rye 1, barley 13 and soybeans 43.

Wheat closed 11-11 higher, July $2.35-2.34, corn 11-11 higher, July $1.83-1.84, oats 1-11 higher, July 77-77, rye 21-31 higher, July $2.04, soybeans 1 to 31 higher, July $3.01-3.01, and lard 10 to 18 cents a hundred pounds higher, July $12.57.

Alias Basil Willing

By Helen McCloy
Copyright 1951 by Helen McCloy Dresser, printed through permission of the publisher, Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Jack Duggan, a private detective, is murdered and Basil Willing, a man who had been a partner in the business, is accused of the crime. Basil Willing is a man who has been a partner in the business, and he is accused of the crime. Basil Willing is a man who has been a partner in the business, and he is accused of the crime.

THE street was a thoroughfare, crossing the city diagonally from northwest to southeast. Like other streets in the neighborhood, it was garish, dingy, littered. Basil Willing got out of his car and stood looking up at the sheer, bleak walls.

He turned to look at the houses on his side of the street—small, squat, squalid houses, some brick, some brownstone, many with shabby little shops on the ground floor. A tailor's, a plumber's, a cobbler's, a pawnshop—struggling neighborhood businesses that would last a few months and then give way to others as fugitive. At the corner, a sign identified the thoroughfare as "Warwick Street."

Basil walked toward the middle of the block until he came to number 104.

The cobbler's shop was on one side and an electrical repair shop on the other. The door of the building itself was a faded brown, cracked and scaling. Basil looked up at the four floors above. Dusty panes, some broken. No curtains or shades. No light. The door was ajar. He stepped into the vestibule. There was a row of letter-boxes. Through dim glass, he saw names scrawled on scraps of paper in slots below the boxes. He lit a match and held the flame up to the name under box 4-C. In that slot there was no name at all.

A hinge creaked as Basil entered the cobbler's shop next door—a cramped, windowless closet, reeking with leather and garlic.

"Who owns the building?" "Jimmy Bush. He runs the pawnshop down at the corner. Why don't you ask him?" "I'd rather ask you." Basil took a photograph from his inner pocket and laid it on the counter beside the $5 bill.

The cobbler saw a still face with staring eyes and dropped jaw—a crude, flashlight picture, unposed, untouched. "You're a cop?" "No."

"That guy's dead." "This happens to be a police photograph, but I'm not a policeman. What are you afraid of?" "Trouble. I don't like a crook, but I don't like a cop, either. I look the other way when either one is around."

Basil laid another $5 bill on the counter, but now he kept his hand on both bills.

The cobbler looked at the money. "Go to court? Testify?" "Perhaps."

"No." He shook his head. "Afterwards some of the guy's pals would rough me up."

"This man was not a gangster." "All crooks run in gangs." The sour wisdom of city streets was in his eyes.

"This man was not a crook. If the police question you, it will be worse."

"They're in on this already?" "Yes. But if you talk to me I'll see they let you alone."

Basil lifted his hand from the two $5 bills. They vanished instantly.

Outside, in the street, he pushed open the scabrous brown door again and paused to listen. No sound. He crossed the vestibule and stood at the foot of a stair. The wooden treads were worn hollow at the center, splintered at the edge, and there was a musty, unaired smell in the place. Shadows clustered thickly above and below the faint light filtered through a grimy window pane on the first landing. Neglect, darkness, filth he was prepared for, but somehow the silence was unnerving.

He began to mount the stairs. The balustrade was shaky under Basil Willing's hand, gritty to his touch. He had to step over one tread that had rotted away altogether, leaving only a ragged opening into the darkness below the stairs.

On the second floor, he paused again. The silence seemed to close about him as if he were sinking into still water.

JHS Students Address Graduation Audience

The class of 1952 graduated Thursday evening from Jacksonville high school. The theme of the commencement was "Quo Vadis?" The Latin words for "Whither Goest Thou?" were symbolic of the turning point in the lives of the seniors.

RECEIVES DEGREE

Mrs. Lois Cobb Maloney

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cobb of 1108 S. Main street returned home Tuesday night after attending the graduation exercises at St. Francis College of Joliet. Their daughter, Mrs. Lois Cobb Maloney, received her B.A. degree.

Gold Star Mothers Get Tributes, Gifts At Bluffs Meeting

Bluffs—The American Legion and its Auxiliary held their meetings recently. At the Auxiliary meeting Mrs. William Chambers president, presided. A short talk was made by Mrs. Glenn Skinner of Jacksonville, district president, which she devoted to the Gold Star Mothers who were guests of honor.

Red geraniums in gold covered pots were presented to the honorees. Mrs. James Dugan, Mrs. Lew Hayes, Mrs. William Campbell and Mrs. Cynthia Newberry. Mrs. Margaret Watson was soloist with Mrs. Chambers at the piano.

The district meeting at Petersburg was announced for June 11 and the next meeting of the local unit was announced for June 16 with a potluck supper at the Singing Hills, and election of officers.

Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served at the close of the meetings.

Other guests were Mrs. Gwen Boyd, alternate district director of Beardstown, Miss Mildred Dugan of Beardstown and Mrs. Mildred Smith, district secretary of Jacksonville.

Mr. Skinner attended the post meeting, at which routine business was discussed.

Mrs. J. A. Knoepfel, chairman of the Girls State committee, announced that Virginia Masterson has been selected to be sponsored by the Auxiliary and the Bluffs Civic club.

S. Jacksonville Holds Commencement For 30

Dr. Victor H. Sheppard, professor of government and history at MacMurray College, called upon 30 graduates of the South Jacksonville grade school "to stand up and be counted for God, country, humanity and yourselves. Stand up for your ideals no matter what the odds may be. American democracy needs men and women who are willing to stand up and be counted."

Dr. Sheppard addressed the annual commencement of the school, held in the auditorium last night. A large crowd of several hundred parents, relatives and friends were present.

During the ceremony, Howard Johnson and Nancy Godfrey, members of the eighth grade, were awarded medals and inscriptions by representatives of the American Legion as outstanding examples of

Nine Seniors Leave Sport Spotlight Of Ashland High

Ashland—Nine seniors of the Ashland high school graduating class were outstanding athletes and received letters for achievement during the four years at school.

Gary Owens has an accumulation of nine letters; Bob Bryant, eight and Donley King, seven. Charles Woods and Bob Willis each have five and Arnold Thornley, two.

Basketball, baseball and track at Ashland high receives a terrific jolt by losing these boys. In basketball six of the first 11, of which three are top scorers graduate; in track five of the six lettermen leave and also five on the baseball team.

Illinois Villages Lose Population In Last Census

Urbana—Two out of five Illinois rural towns of fewer than 2,500 people have lost population during the past 10 years.

C. L. Folse, rural sociologist in the Illinois College of Agriculture, says the tendency for people to leave rural centers presents a real challenge to leaders concerned with community improvement programs.

The future of the smaller centers will depend a great deal upon how well they are able to meet day-to-day needs of farmers and how much farm people are encouraged to take an active part in community life and affairs.

Folse says the challenge extends to society in general, since these small communities have always been leaders in fostering and preserving our democratic institutions.

Folse reports that while 40 percent of these rural communities were losing ground, the general shift in population from rural to urban continued. Illinois cities increased their population by nearly 12 percent from 1940 to 1950, while the rural increase was only about 6 percent, based on the 1940 census classification of "rural" and "urban."

Peoria is a good example of how rapidly Illinois population has become urbanized. In 1900, it was the only city in the state in the 50,000 to 100,000 population range. By 1950 there were 10 cities in this size group. Since 1900 both the number of cities and the urban population have grown tremendously. In 1950 about three-fourths of all Illinois residents were living in urban areas.

Missouri College Teacher Addresses Winchester Seniors

Winchester—Dr. Charles E. Kauslarish, associate professor at Northeast Missouri State Teachers College, presented the address at the annual commencement exercises at the Winchester community high school Wednesday night. In his speech he stressed character development through the years ahead, and told the graduates that if they did not have certain essential qualities necessary for success they should try to develop them.

In this competitive world they must put forth a real effort in order to make a success of their lives, he declared.

Sixty-three diplomas were awarded to graduates of the high school by B. F. Green, president of the board of education, community unit No. 1. John P. Allen, principal of the high school, presented the class.

Elizabeth Ryder and David Means were awarded medals for citizenship. The awards made annually by the Julian Wells post of the American Legion on recommendation of school authorities. Richard E. Mann, representing the Legion, made the awards.

Joan Harber Given High Posts In Two IC Organizations

Miss Joan Harber of 209 S. Fayette street was recently named the new associate editor of the Rambler, Illinois College newspaper. And she has been chosen business manager of the Hilltop Players, I.C. dramatic group.

She is a native of Jacksonville, will be a senior on the campus next fall. She belongs to Chi Beta literary society.

The students to fill two posts on the Rambler, including the associate editorship, were selected by competitive examination. The tests were graded and judged by an alumnus of the college, H. Clay Tate, editor of the Bloomington Pantagraph.

In making its decision the Rambler board of control considered previous experience in journalism and general ability as well as the examination grades.

The new staff has already taken over and will finish out this term through the final Rambler issue, June 4.

Paul Roley, who advanced from associate editor to editor, is from Carrollton. He will be a senior in 1952-53.

Supt. Cloud Speaker At I.S.D. Graduation

"Education as taught here at the School for the Deaf differs in technique from that taught in schools for hearing students, but the aims and results are the same," Dr. Daniel T. Cloud, superintendent of I.S.D., told the institution's 89th commencement audience. "Education here as elsewhere in this country is meant to train a student to live with himself and to become an asset in a democratic community."

Dr. Cloud's address was his final one to the student body as their superintendent after a 23-year career as head of the institution. He is about to assume the duties of superintendent of the New York School for the Deaf, White Plains, N.Y.

As a mark of esteem and affection from the student body, the three literary societies of the school presented gifts to both Dr. and Mrs. Cloud. This was followed by gifts from the employees of the school "as tokens of respect and affection after many years of service under you," presented by Rev. William Boston.

Dr. Cloud then presented the new superintendent to the audience of 400 persons who filled the Bowen auditorium for the graduation exercises. He is Thomas Kline, who for the past several years has served as principal. Mrs. Kline also was introduced.

Seven members of the graduating class received diplomas from Dr. Cloud. They were Irvin J. Carls, Chicago; Faye Ann Cave, LeRoy; Alta Vernon Hood, Eldorado; Stanley M. Kwiat, Chicago; Noah Wertz, Ohio; Barbara A. Winkler, Streator; and Helen A. Winkler, Streator.

During the course of his remarks, the superintendent told the students that "the education you have received here is the best you can get anywhere. It has helped you to build character, self-respect, a good reputation, and the wisdom to share. The rest is up to you. Discharge your future obligations with cheerfulness and a sense of obligation."

Honor Birthdays Of Margaret Wild, James V. Baptist

Among those present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bradney, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bradney and Mrs. Mrs. Lyde Redburn, John Brodman, Miss Margaret Gristy, Mrs. Mildred Gristy, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wild, Mrs. Annabell Wild, Alice Wild, Mrs. James V. Baptist and children, Suzanna, Annette, Joe and Nancy, Larry Lee Sperry and Clarence Sperry.

Afternoon callers at the Sperry home were Mrs. Dorothy Lemon and Mrs. Sadie Edwards.

Two Sets Of Graduates Get Diplomas At I.S.B.

A double set of graduates heard Willard Ice, I.S.B. alumnus and now a Springfield attorney, discuss the futures which students of the Illinois School for the Blind may look forward to in what he termed "an increasingly enlightened age" yesterday afternoon in the institution's annual commencement. Ice spoke to 11 members of the graduating senior high school class and 15 of the eighth grade.

A large crowd of alumni, parents and townspeople filled the auditorium to witness the ceremonies. The graduates received their diplomas from Mrs. Blanche Fritz, special deputy director of the state department of public welfare. They were introduced by Leo J. Flood, superintendent of the School for the Blind.

Included in the program were two musical selections by the school orchestra under the direction of Fred Myers, and three songs by the school chorus.

Mr. Ice told the graduates that "today is a propitious time to go out into the world. Because of the pioneering efforts of many distinguished blind persons before you, your chances for making your mark in a sighted society are far greater than they were just a few years ago. There is much yet to be done in breaking down the skepticism in many lines that a blind person cannot perform the work of a sighted individual, but our society is becoming increasingly enlightened. Beyond the excellent education and training you have received here, the rest is up to you."

High school graduates who received diplomas were:
